THE STORY

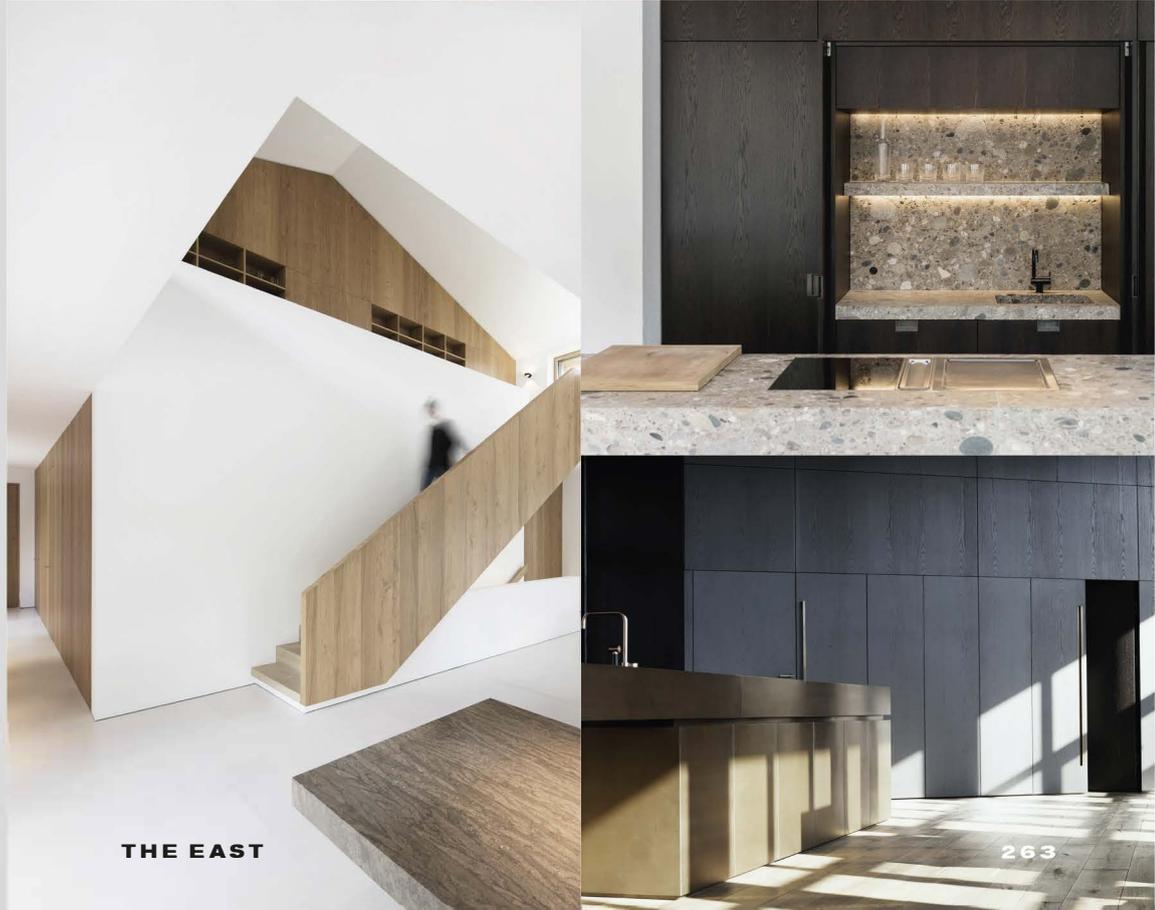

Tobias Petri is the co-founder of holzrausch. Together with his partner Sven Petzold and a team of interior designers, architects, wood engineers, surface technicians, master craftsmen, journeymen and apprentices, he plans, designs and produces furniture that creates architecture through its dialogue with space.

The focus here is on the interior design of private and public spaces with extensive expertise in the planning and production of high-quality kitchens. Next to his passion for his craft he also has a close connection to the austrian Alps, living right by the mountain at an altitude of 1200 meters in the beautiful area Zillertal.

As an enthusiast of the diverse terrain, culinary specialties, and the outstanding architecture of this area, he has a few recommendations up his sleeve that should definitely be considered for the next trip to Tyrol. In the following he shares some of his favorites.
